

REFUGEES FLEEING BOMBINGS IN ITALY

as Pour Into Rome To Find Haven.

Associated Press
A coordinated relief campaign is being organized by the Italian Red Cross, the Red Cross of Italy and from the Mediterranean countries. "Explosives from the wheat" heaped up on Sardinia and the Italian island of Sicily.

Switzerland was under way to help the refugees on the toe of Italy and from Rome all day thousands of temping to escape allied bombardment.

A Rome pressurist reported that the Italian government, capital of Sardinia, had been abandoned as a result of the violent allied aerial offensive.

With allied planes stepping up the fury of their assault on the invasion trail into Southern Europe, Italy's Crown Prince Umberto was quoted by the British radio as warning Italians that they were short of arms and must throw all their spiritual and physical strength in the struggle.

SPARKLE IN EMERGENCY

By The United Press

LOS ANGELES—Ten-month-old Margaret Morris, by placing live electric wire in her mouth causing a burn which might have proved fatal, caused a demonstration of what can be done in the matter of first-aid relief. The necessary treatment for such an injury could only be located at San Francisco. A telephone call resulted in the police breaking open the door at night of a wholesale drug warehouse where the victim was stored, placing it on a piano and rushing it to the bed side of the child in time to save a life.

CALIFORNIA MAN DROWNS IN CALIFORNIA LAKE

WOMAN IDENTIFIED AS CALIFORNIAN

Teacher's Body Found Along Tracks in Ohio.

By The Associated Press

WAUKEEON, O., May 28.—Coroner H. M. Warner said today a manically-dressed woman found on the New York Central's trunk line west of here had been identified tentatively as Bess Schmitz, a California school teacher.

The identification was made, Warner said, by Dr. Paul Schmitz of Detroit, a near-relative who said Miss Schmitz left Detroit Sunday after visiting her family.

The body of the woman, about 30 years old, was found early yesterday about five miles west of here.

A description of the woman's physical appearance and her clothing fitted perfectly with the body, Warner said. The coroner added he had not been informed where in California the woman taught, nor the name of her parents. She rode a bus to Toledo, he said he was informed, and took a west-bound train leaving there at 1:39 a.m. Monday.

Sheriff Lester Irwin said a thorough search failed to produce any clues in the woman's identity. The sheriff described her as "expensively-dressed and well-groomed." She was wearing a smartly-tailored bluish-green suit bearing the label of Muller & Blatt of Los Angeles, a shop that caters to movie actresses. A dark brown fur piece was crumpled under the body. Nearby lay a black hat. No purse or luggage was found.

She was a blonde, about 30 years old, weighing about 120 pounds and five feet four inches tall.

The coroner said all evidence indicated she had met death some place else and theorized she might have been "dropped" from one train and struck by another.

Dr. Warner said he and the sheriff had asked New York Central police to search for a piece of baggage or some other clue that might lead to her identity.

The coroner said a series of microscopic and chemical tests were being conducted in an effort to learn the cause of death, but said this "would take at least a week."

Four Planes Shot Down

A large formation raided the Obbia - Venafiorita airfield in northern Sardinia while beating off eight enemy fighters. Four of these interceptors were shot down as bombs destroyed or damaged a number of scattered aircraft.

Carloforte harbor, on the southwest tip, Arbatax on the east coast, Iglesias on the west coast, and Alghero airfield in the north also came under the bomb blanket.

United States heavy bombers from the Cairo air force blasted San Giovanni and Reggio Calabria at the toe of the Italian boot which left smoke spouting from the ferry slips and buildings and a tanker damaged.

RAF bombers took over the harbor of Messina and gave the harbor yards, ferry terminal and oil storage tanks a bath of high explosives Sunday night.

The American operations enveloped almost every vital point of the island's perimeter. The pilots say a supply ship exploded in flames from two direct hits and four small craft disappeared beneath the surface. Then fighter pilots made a second attack on the harbor and hit a supply ship of large size.

The following policy concerning the proceeds of the cookie sale was submitted and accepted: "The value of the cookie sale being to raise a capital fund for purchase, improvement, and maintenance of a camp site or Little House which will be used by all Girl Scouts under the jurisdiction of the council. It is deemed advisable not to offer any share of the proceeds to the individual scouts for selling the cookies."

A letter from national headquarters in connection with the national convention in Cleveland the week of Oct. 25 was read by Mrs. J. Wendell Wiant. Jap Operations in China Threat To Chiang's Power

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Intensification of the Japanese military operations in the area of the strategic port of Ichang on the Yangtze river appears to hold important potentialities.

Observers in Chungking figure that the Japs certainly are out to seize important territory along the great Yangtze, and perhaps to make a drive against the Chinese provisional capital itself. In either event, rich agricultural provinces—vital to the maintenance of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's regime—would be at stake.

The Japanese early this year threatened to go all-out to smash Chungking and knock General Chiang out of the war. Whether this is the inauguration of such a campaign remains to be seen. It hasn't gone far enough yet to warrant us in assuming that the Chungking area is involved.

However, it's a harsh fact that should the Japanese succeed in capturing the capital, and in overrunning the provinces of Hunan and Szechuan, with their wealth of rice and other vital resources, it would place a terrific strain of unpredictable effect on the already hard-pressed Chinese. This isn't cited in any spirit of pessimism, but as representing the possible goal of the rising sun barbarians.

Chinese Prepared

Official quarters in Chungking say that "the Chinese are well prepared" to meet such a fresh onslaught, and one hopes that this is a correct estimate of the position. Certainly there is no doubt of the bravery of the Celestials and, apart from other considerations, nature has set down some great barriers in the path of the Japanese.

The bomb-laden mountain city of Chungking lies less than 300 miles by air to the west of the strategic Yangtze port of Ichang which is in Jap hands. However, Ichang is at the eastern entrance of the Yangtze gorges. West of the city are mountains through which the mighty river cuts that in some places is 2,000 feet deep in solid rock.

The gorge and the surrounding mountains provide strong defenses against invasion. True, the rapids of the Yangtze can be negotiated by powerful river steamers which are built for these shallow, tumbling waters. Junks also are towed up to Chungking, as for generations past, by coolies.

It's a Tough Job

I've seen these river workers toiling junk on the Yangtze at Chungking, straining in their rope harness so terribly that they were all but prostrate on the shore and kept themselves up by using their hands as feet. To me it was a terrible sight. However, sentiment aside, the point is that the Yangtze gorges aren't adapted to the easy passage of an army.

Meager reports of the fighting indicate that the Japs may be calculating on driving westward to the south of the Yangtze in an effort to reach Chungking. They also are operating to the north of Ichang, which might represent an effort to get at the capital by route north of the Yangtze.

Yesterday's Chinese communiqué reported a successful counter-attack against the Japs in this latter zone.

Of course General Chiang still has a vast hinterland into which he could retire with his government and his armies. However, he would be leading his people out into a comparative wilderness. Thus it is essential that Chungking and the agricultural areas in neighboring territory be held. It's close to impossible to move heavy land equipment into China these days, with the Burma road closed. Virtually everything has to be ferried by air.

For this reason one would assume that if the Japanese offensive should develop adversely, the allies would rush air power to the aid of Chiang. Our own 14th U.S. air force under Major General Chennault continues to do a grand job for the Chinese.

Officers To Be Chosen Later; Canteen and Day Nursery Reports Given for First Time.

Election of nine members to the board of trustees and reports of the work of agencies of the Marion Community Foundation, Inc., featured the annual meeting of the foundation Monday night.

Elected to serve as trustees for three years were Harold Grigsby, Mrs. Fillmore Young, C. Z. Zachman, Mrs. Howard Swink, J. J. Stafford, Robert T. Mason, Robert E. White, A. H. Barnard and George Wilson. Officers will be elected at a later meeting.

J. E. Oliphant, president, reported the organization is in fine shape financially and that indications are it will go through the year without difficulty.

J. E. Frew, chairman of the foundation's council of social agencies, presided for the reports. Carl Campbell, who has been serving as financial secretary during the illness and since the death of R. A. Garvin, served as secretary.

Reports included two of the foundation's newest participating agencies, the canteen for service men and the proposed nursery for the day care of children of working mothers. During the first six months of its operation the canteen served 50,000 men and 180,000 during the last six months.

Mrs. Eugene Willey, head of the canteen, reported. The Strelitz family home at 136 Hill street has been made available for the day nursery. Mrs. J. Malcolm Strelitz, chairman of the day nursery committee of the Civilian Defense council, told the group. Plans for going ahead with establishing the nursery have been halted temporarily due to regulations of the state. A representative of the department of public welfare was expected to be in Marion today to discuss the situation, Mrs. Strelitz stated.

Mrs. J. H. Harmon reported on the girl reserves and stated there are more than 850 girls at Vernon, Central, Harding and Thompson Edison schools interested in the work.

Mrs. J. E. Frew reported on the activities of the Girl Scouts and said there are 355 active Girl Scouts in 17 troops in the city. Three schools are asking for the organization of Girl Scout troops, she stated. Hugh May, Boy Scout executive, reported more than 600 registered members in the county and said that applications have been received for 150 more. Leadership is the critical need in Boy Scout work at present, due to the shortage of manpower.

An objective this year is to have every boy in camping and other activities, he stated.

Major Joseph Heard, who with Mrs. Heard heads the Salvation Army corps, reported on the work. Because of improved economic conditions there is no longer a call for material assistance. There has been in former years, however, a transient problem has greatly decreased, the major stated.

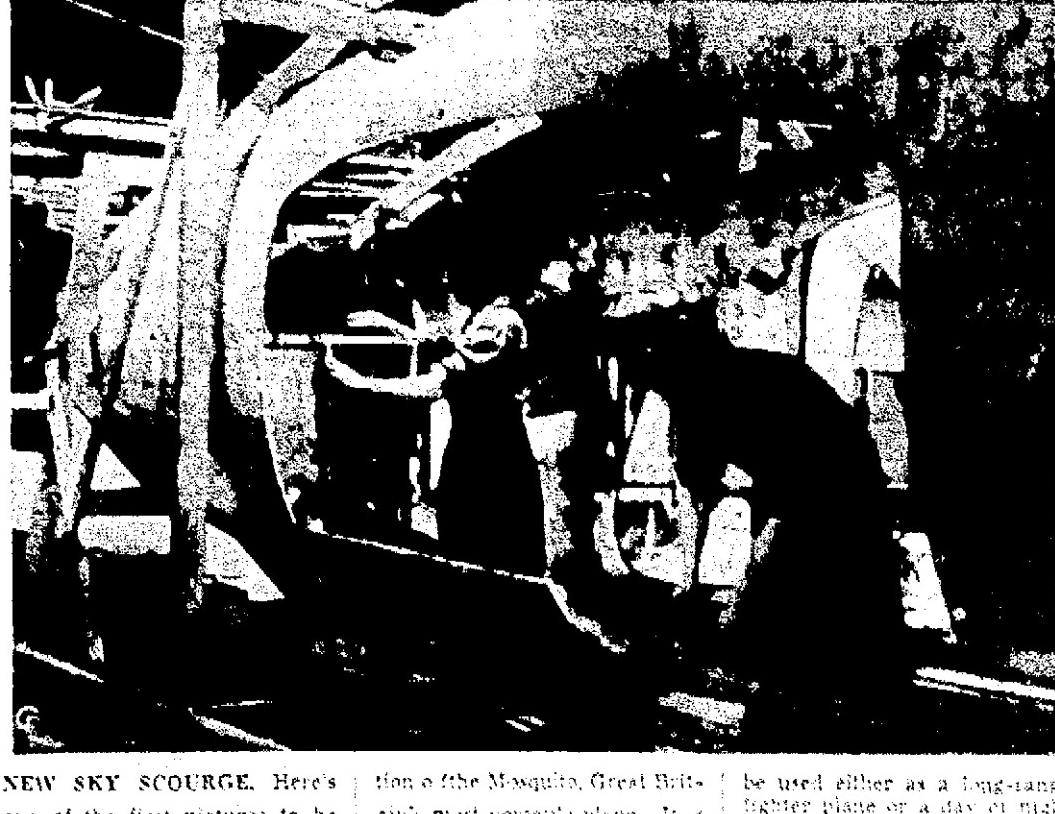

Burial services will be made in the LaRue cemetery. Mrs. Williams died Sunday night.

FUNERAL PLANS CHANGED

Rev. M. E. Hollensen, pastor of Emmanuel Lutheran church, will conduct the funeral services for Mrs. Minta Williams, Wednesday at 3 p.m. in the home at 263 Pearl street.

Formerly it was planned to have Rev. J. W. Horne, retired minister of LaRue conduct the services.

Burial will be made in the LaRue cemetery. Mrs. Williams died Sunday night.

TWO BODIES FOUND IN DELAWARE HOTEL

Man and Youth Apparently Shot to Death.

By The Associated Press

DELAWARE, O., May 28.—The bodies of two men were discovered in a room at the Alien hotel today. Police Chief Leonard Hoffman said it appeared both of them might have been shot.

He said papers on the bodies indicated they were W. G. Troeger, 45, and Gaylen L. Burke, 18, both of Columbus. Burke was an engineering student at Ohio State University, Hoffman added.

The police chief and Sheriff M. F. Kinney entered the second-floor room through a window after hotel authorities complained they had been unable to arouse the tenants, who responded Sunday.

Hoffman said Troeger apparently was shot in the temple and Burke had a mouth wound.

Police said they understood Burke was to have gone into the Army Wednesday and that Troeger, believed to live at a Columbus hotel, was an instructor in some phase of aviation.

Elected to serve as trustees for three years were Harold Grigsby, Mrs. Fillmore Young, C. Z. Zachman, Mrs. Howard Swink, J. J. Stafford, Robert T. Mason, Robert E. White, A. H. Barnard and George Wilson. Officers will be elected at a later meeting.

ALLIED PLANES CROSS CHANNEL ON DAY RAID

Bombing Resumed After Rest Following Dortmund Raid.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, May 28.—A strong force of allied warplanes dashed eastward across the channel this morning to resume by daylight the allied offensive which reached its peak Sunday night in a record-breaking RAF assault on Dortmund.

The course followed by the daylight raiders indicated they would hit the French coast somewhere between Dieppe and Boulogne.

RAF fighters were over northern France on small-scale intruder patrols during the night, but the British heavy bombers were given a rest after their 2,000-ton attack on Dortmund.

(Berlin claimed today in a broadcast recorded by The Associated Press that 44 British bombers were shot down on that raid. The British announced 36 were lost.)

The Germans also claimed that Nazi guns brought down seven multi-engined British bombers and damaged another during the RAF attack yesterday on German headquarters, the blue signal at 10:10. The complete blackout was relayed in 1 minute, 40 seconds to all control centers in the county. The second blue signal was given at 10:19 and the all-clear at 10:29.

A fire call here, revealing a fire started on a lawn, was thought by officials to be the work of a prankster and had been extinguished when the call was answered. No calls were received by the medical corps or emergency squad. A heavy downpour of rain did not delay air raid wardens in their patrol duties.

An unidentified airplane was sighted over Wrexham during the second period of the test.

Commander of Wyndham county civil defense is Judge Russell H. Kent; executive director, Harold J. Grigsby is scheduled to be master of ceremonies, and the Marion group is expected to include Elmer J. Schoenhuber, county war bond committee chairman, and Fred Jones, chief of the medical corps.

Schoenhuber, chief of road and bridge emergency repair squad, Captain George Wilson; engineer, Orr N. Essex; chairman of rural activities, C. H. Crum, county agricultural agent.

Wyndham officials are: Commander, Walter M. Swett; Band, George Elliott; assistant, Miss Roby; chief telephone operator, public works, C. M. Beaton; utility, John Waller; chief of auxiliary police, Urban Warnings; chief of medical corps, Harvey Sy

Training Season Starts for Trotters

50 Head at Fairground Track Anxiously Await Change in Weather.

Everett Osborn of Wichita, Kan., competent trainer and driver of one of the classic stables in the middle west, arrived in Marion Sunday with 14 head, swelling the fairground colony to an even 50 head in training for Marion's 15-night Little Grand Circuit harness racing program, June 16-26.

Osborn made the 1,200-mile trip here by railway express, traveling from Wichita to Chicago by way of the Santa Fe and from there arrived Friday, the remainder being hauled here Saturday and Sunday.

This Kansas' stable is made up of two parts, four horses owned by A. L. Derby, prominent Wichita oil man, and ten head owned by E. C. "Gene" Moriarity, newly elected city commissioner and mayor of Wichita.

The Derby horses include Alpha Hal, an untried two-year-old pacer; Big Sted, aged trotter with a record of 2:02 1/4; Voluntair, another aged trotter with a record of 2:02 1/4; and Colleen Scott, a five-year-old 2:00 1/4 trotter which has been converted into a pacer for the 1942 campaign.

New York Campaign

In the Moriarity half of the stable are Miss Miller, GeSeWa Mission, Phillips, Dutcher's Bank and Birdland, two - year - old pacers; June Mite and Seachoo Goddess, two-year-old trotters; Peaceful Abe, a green three-year-old trotter; John Worthy, three-year-old trotter with a record of 2:19 1/2; Grafton June, a three - year - old 2:15 1/4 pacer; Queen Day, a four-year-old pacer; Mt. Vernon and Jack Brown of Allentown, Pa., Brown is working here June 10 and extending through June 25.

Trains Little Jack

Others quartered at the fairground are Hugh Bell, the local Marion pilot; Eddie Dunwoody of Mt. Vernon and Jack Brown of Allentown, Pa., Brown is working here June 10 and extending through June 25.

Brings 13 Head

Carl Hatchell, the Timmonsville, S. C., pilot and a veteran Grand Circuit campaigner, was the only arrival last week. He brought his stable of 13 here from North Randall near Cleveland after failing to get in a single workout in three weeks at the metropolitan track. First of the Hatchell 13 was the arrival of J. W. Setzer of Marion. Nominated in the 17 pace stake, Little Jack is the only Marion-owned horse in any of the 10 stake events. Bell is also handling stock owned by Eddie Fellmeth of Marion and Ludwig E. Nestel of Bucyrus.

Dunwoody's fairground charges now number eight head, including five trotters, two pacers and one mare which will not be in action here. None of the trotters or pacers now in his training stable were nominated for stake racing here.

Firpo Called Greatest Fighter—by Big Jess Willard Who Wasn't

"Bull of the Pampas" Beat Dempsey, Former Champion Declares.

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
AP Sports Writer

DALLAS — The big guy looked back through tempestuous years—the savagery heat of Havana, the bloody gore of Toledo, the night one mighty blow sent the great Jack Dempsey flying from the ring—and proclaimed as the greatest fighter he ever saw:

Luis Angel Firpo, the Wild Bull of the Pampas.

Jess Willard, gray about the temples but still keen-eyed and with a voice that sounds like a canon, passed his accolade on to the man who never was champion.

"Firpo was the best fighter of them all," he intoned. "Sure Jack Johnson was good, Dempsey was great, Joe Louis was a fine boxer.

Billy Frazee was big, tough and game, and he could hit hard enough to chill a girl through.

"He really won over Dempsey and if he had gotten what was coming to him would have been a great champion. You know, Dempsey was helped back into the ring that night he went on to knock out Firpo. It's against the rules of boxing for a fighter to be helped by the crowd."

Few, if any one, ever listed Firpo at the top. There probably will be few to agree with big Jess today, but Willard ought to know he was there. The 50-year-old former world's champion fought the giant of the Argentine in addition to two men rated among the greatest of all time—Johnson and Dempsey. Of course the fight with Firpo came while the aging Willard—then 42—was attempting a comeback.

Seeking Movie Profits

Willard said he was in Dallas conferring with lawyers relating to claiming profits he says should be his from the shooting of the Willard-Dempsey fight picture taken at Toledo July 4, 1919. Jess said he still owned a fourth of that picture and he figured its use brought in at least $5,000,000.

Jess is serving as greeter at a cafe here.

"I'm getting along pretty good," the 285-pound Jess grinned when asked his financial status. "I made a million and a quarter out of fighting—or rather, I made most of it in show business as result of my boxing. I have managed to rear five children and give them college educations."

His two sons, Jess, Jr., and Alan, are in the service—Jess as athletic director at an air field at Amarillo, Tex., and Alan with the ski troops at Lenderville, Colo. He also has three daughters.

Willard looked half and hearty. "I must be in pretty good shape," he commented. "I fell on the ice a couple of months ago and broke my ankle and it took only three weeks to heal."

Could Have Beaten Dempsey

Jess, who won the title from Jack Dempsey at Havana at the age of 23, lost it four years later to Dempsey. "I had only one other fight in the four years—with Frank Moran. At my best I could have beaten Dempsey or any other man on earth," he said.

Jess was asked his version of the Johnson fight—what he thought of the stories that the Negro "laid down."

Willard didn't bat an eye. "It was 120 degrees in the shade and there wasn't any shade," he grinned. "We had fought an hour and forty-five minutes before the knockout. If Johnson was going to throw the fight, don't you think he would have done so sooner instead of going through all that?"

"Then, too, as I have often said, I'm sure glad Johnson quit, if he did quit, because I was going to quit myself." Also, there were 100 prominent fighters covering the fight. Don't you think it was a frame-up? Yet, at the time, those capable, experienced men didn't see a thing wrong."

TENNIS SEES PLACE IN WAR PROGRAM

Championship Matches Likely To Be Held at Forest Hills.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, May 24.—Held over through the stage of wartime uncertainty, tennis officials said that they know where they're going this year. It isn't very far along the familiar perspective that names of trial, but it is far enough to afford considerable satisfaction to all concerned.

"No decision has been made about holding the national championships at Forest Hills, but they will be held if they can interfere with the war," says President Holman Ward of the United States Lawn Tennis association. Then he adds hopefully: "I can see how they can interfere. Technical arrangements have been made with the West Side Tennis club at Forest Hills and a definite decision will be reached after committee hearings, army, navy and ODT officials in Washington."

Mar-O-Del Gets Good Play Over Week-End

Some 50 Marion publicists soldiers toured the Mar-O-Del course over the week-end as the weather man eased up and for the first time in many weeks, rain did not hamper fairway swingers.

John Rife turned in the low 18 hole score of the two days on the Route 23 layout with an 81. The former city champ's nine hole rounds were 29 and 42. Leo Oberlander also posted a low 15 mark of 32.

The new Mar-O-Del managers, Harry Mounts and Marion Hindlin, supervised some additional improvements on their public nine over the week-end. Greens were rolled and smoothed to an effective putting level while fairways were dressed up by the course managers.

the present Army hero, Rene Labeau, in the same main-ay event. The second semi-final match brings together the Purple Panthers and Jim Vaninsky. Cosky's opponent will be making his first appearance. Recently Van Zimmerman completed a successful eastern fight centers under the name of Count Van Zandt.

Next month production of American-Made rubber gets into full swing at a new plant at Baytown, Texas.

And who is operating that synthetic plant? The Synthetic Rubber Division of The General Tire & Rubber Company.

Maybe Butadiene and Styrene don't mean much to you. But, mix them together and carry them through various complicated processes and you get synthetic rubber.

It doesn't mean that you'll ride on Synthetic Generals tomorrow, but it does mean that the day when you will is just that much nearer.

And, it does show that General . . . who has always given you America's Top-Quality Tire and the best things first . . . is again in the forefront in preparing for the day when it can give you still more Top-Quality.

Perhaps that's why we're so proud to be the representative for General Tires in this area. Why we have stuck to our knitting in wartime . . . have continued to sell and service nothing but tires . . . have made it our business, as always, to apply our expert knowledge and modern equipment to the job of giving everybody the most tire mileage possible.

Council Aid Sought For Improvement of Airport

Civil Air Patrol and C. of C. Committee Urge City To Give Financial Help To Keep Port Going.

A report for now cannot be able to continue this fine service. Unusually large the Civil Air to the city of Marion if given the financial support of the council. The Civil Air Patrol is really doing the job a favor for itself, the most a chance to clear a person off the road. In the short time the CAP has been in command charge of the port they have done considerable work and have expended a considerable amount of their own money," Mr. Bray continued.

"They've cleaned the hangar and the adjoining office through Projects which should be completed now are out of the financial range of the group. Several sections of the field need to be filled in if they are to successfully accommodate large Army planes which stop here frequently. This type of improvement can be made only through city aid," he concluded.

Councilman Stark proposed that suggestions made by both Lt. Reichenstein and Mr. Bray be turned over to council's air port and finance committees for study.

Inspection Planned

At Mr. Bray's suggestion and on the approval of council's airport committee chairman, First Ward Councilman Harold Robinson, an inspection tour by the council airport committee and the Chamber of Commerce aviation committee of the airport is planned for the near future.

By agreement of the city relief physician, Dr. Martin A. Weinbaum, council authorized a $5 per cent reduction in his salary as the relief physician. Mayor State explained the reduction was being made only through the arrival the CAP was operating on a sheeting basis. Outside help is absolutely necessary in order to keep the port open under regulations demanded by the federal government, he said.

Cities Post-War Needs

Mr. Bray then told councilmen that Marion residents, under circumstances by the war, want the port kept open for the duration. He said that more than 300 Marion county men are now either commissioned pilots or in various steps of training and as flyers will want to continue to fly after the war. "They'll be air minded," he predicted, "but unless something is done now in the way of airport improvement Marion will be far behind towns of comparable size as far as aviation is concerned."

"The CAP has done a fine job of keeping the port and will be modifies and goods, raw material resources depleted by war, and new products and processes.

"Controlled disposal" of excess supplies held by the government, the book comments, "might be used as an instrument to stabilize post-war market and help prevent runaway inflation."

In transportation, the survey finds railroads, airlines, pipelines and a revitalized merchant marine will struggle to keep the high rate of operations they are enjoying with the war. The report of the national resources board committee headed by Oscar D. Young, chairman of General Electric Co., the fund points out, proposes a national transportation agency to co-ordinate these facilities.

The study expects a "more intimate relationship between government and banking," and advises "Any program for the full and expanding use of our plant and resources after the war depends largely on whether the necessary funds can be made available to finance it."

"Most Americans," the survey finds, "seem to believe that private enterprise and initiative should be allowed—and encouraged—to run our economic life as far as possible; but that when private interests fail, some agency of the government should do the job."

The fund sees a need for "effective agricultural controls, after the war. An immediate effect of the war's end, it says, will be a sharp rise in demand from starving nations for foodstuffs; our output will rise and create surpluses as war torn lands are brought back into Europe's food service."

THE first and most transcendent labor problem of the immediate post-war period will be, of course," the fund says, "the demobilization of the vast hordes of men and women we have recruited to fight the war and to supply those who have done the fighting."

Complicating this, the fund believes, will be questions resulting from labor migration, women in industry, wartime rises in labor's pay and output per man, the increase in union memberships, and government's "unprecedented power" in the field.

The growth of worker-management committees is seen as a significant wartime development which might help iron out some of the postwar problems.

A partial answer to some of these questions, the fund believes may come from a resumption of public works programs.

"At all events any program for post-war America will undoubtedly have two purposes: (1) To build those public works which are necessary in themselves and (2) to build, in addition and when needed, those that can best combat depression and serve the public at the same time."

Housing will be another outlet for labor and materials since:

"To replace our worst substandard dwelling units and to care for the increase in families, we shall probably need a building program for the next decade of more than one million dwelling units a year in towns and cities.

In rural America we need a rural housing program of about four billion dollars."

Health, education and economic security all will demand attention in the post-war world, the survey finds. Here too, the question of government's participation in fields which have been to a considerable extent in the hands of local or private groups is a question to be decided.

BO DOGS ENTERED IN COON CHASE AT GALION

Crawford County Association Stages Spring Event.

Special to The Star

GALION, May 25.—Eighty dogs came to town Sunday to run in the eliminations of the coon chase sponsored by the Crawford County Hunters' association at the Shockley farm, South Street road. There was a large crowd of spectators despite muddy grounds.

Red Rhythm, the dog owned by Roger and Ryland of Mansfield, finished first in the tree and line events; while Blue Joe, dog owned by Merchant Brothers of Canal Winchester finished second in the tree and line. Red Sail, owned by Cowell and Heston of Perryville, came in third in the tree event and Jumping Jeff, belonging to Taylor and Tanner of Loudonville, finished third in the tree; Buckeye Bill, owned by Church and Dunlap of Newark, was fourth, tree, and Pay Day, became safety from $150 to $75 a month. In addition he receives $150 a month as city health commissioner.

The mayor told council he had asked the master of the gay club over in Dr. Weinbaum about two weeks ago and that Dr. Weinbaum was agreeable to a cut as large as a provision was made by council to raise or lower the salary depending on the local relief load.

To Buy Sweeper

Other legislative action taken by council included approval of two ordinances dealing with purchase of a new street sweeper and sale of the present machine, which was retained by the service department several months ago.

One of the two ordinances authorizes Safety-Service Director Caldwell to advertise for bids for another machine in his summary explanation to council of all legislation. Mayor State pointed out that a new machine could not be obtained at this time.

They've cleaned the hangar and the adjoining office through Projects which should be completed now are out of the financial range of the group. Several sections of the field need to be filled in if they are to successfully accommodate large Army planes which stop here frequently. This type of improvement can be made only through city aid," he concluded.

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, May 25—The democratic game of tennis sounds kind of funny, doesn't it? But that's one of the things they try to impress on you at the U. S. Lawn Tennis association offices these days. "Tennis," says Prexy Holcombe Ward, "has come a long way since the old Newport days." ... And what Ward wants is for more kids to learn the game no matter which side of the tracks they live on. "We're trying to encourage public parks play and persuade high schools to engage competent coaches, not only for teams but to teach the boys and girls the right way to hit the ball and how to place their feet."

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

I was forced to let my fiancee know that there had been a change in my father's care, for she was then the only person who could understand what I wanted to do. Marion would not have and would not have been able to help me. Carolyn, from time to time, and frequently, had been being supported by her mother's intercessions, and I had Stephen Bellin take a minor thought concerning this.

That day, however, my father would not let the more violent outburst of his suspicious nature, of which I knew he was capable, after he turned toward the window and left the room.

Katherine was the first to break the silence which lay heavily between us.

"Mother," she faltered, "do you suppose me mad that this awful nightmare is somewhere near the breaking point?"

Progress Being Made

"I wish I could tell you yes, dear girl," I answered, not daring to voice too strongly the hope which was stirring within me. "But" I went on slowly, "I am sure that he feels progress is being made. At any rate, there is nothing we can do to hasten things, except to be good soldiers and do as we are told."

"I hope I can be one at two o'clock tomorrow morning when I meet that 'widower' woman," Katherine said, and there was concentrated venom in her usual gentle voice. "I never felt my fingers so feral before. No 'gangster's moll' ever did a better job of scratching eyes out than I feel myself capable of doing."

I could not help laughing at her fierceness, so in contrast to her usual manner. Indeed I did not try to keep mirth back, for I felt need a touch of lightness in the mental atmosphere was distinctly needed.

Katherine Shows Surprise

"I shall take a strain, jacket along," I said, "and apply it if needed."

She looked at me, plainly startled. "But," she said, "you are not going with me. She expressly stipulated, you know, that I was to come alone."

"I know she did," I said dryly, "and in all probability my father will see to it that you keep to the letter of her stipulation. But you don't know him or his capabilities if you doubt that I shall be stationed within hearing—and perhaps—seeing distance of you when
